

Investment Strategy

The investment strategy of the LOYS Philosophie Bruns Fund may generally be categorized as "Long/Short Equity, long biased". Our edge is the identification and exploitation of undervalued stocks on the international developed equity markets. Our investment universe thereby is not limited to specific countries or sectors; in principle any stock exchange traded company all around the world can be a potential investment. On basis of a fundamental bottom-up analysis, the fund will trade equity that is significantly undervalued. We demand a margin of safety and do not enter a new position until we have identified a high-quality share that trades with at least 30% discount to its fair value. The foremost criteria for the portfolio composition is the absolute attraction of the traded company itself, which is measured by the degree of the undervaluation that we have identified. The composition of the fund solely depends on the number and the attraction of the available equity that meet our requirements. Accordingly, the fund does not have to be fully invested on the equity markets: whenever the portfolio manager considers that no or not enough investment opportunities are meeting our criteria described above, the fund holds cash.

Fund Management Commentary

The LOYS Philosophie Bruns experienced the last four weeks with a small decrease in net asset value. In April, the financial markets were characterized by falling bond prices on the one hand and quarterly company results on the other. This showed once again that the upward price trend of recent years has not yet been sufficiently dampened. On the equities side, some figures led to leaps and bounds. While strong figures from Microsoft and Alphabet boosted share prices, the outlook from Meta Platforms was met with disappointment. A mixed picture was seen in Europe, where Novartis, SAP, Deutsche Bank and Hermès delivered convincing results, while Kering, ASML and BASF presented disappointing figures. The fund management of LOYS Philosophie Bruns took advantage of the remarkable rise in the share price of jeans manufacturer Levi Strauss to sell the position. The British media company Future PLC was newly included.

Important Information:

¹The gross value development (BVI method) takes into account all costs incurred at fund level (for example, the management fee) with the exception of any front-end load that may be incurred (this is otherwise marked separately). Additional costs may be incurred individually at customer level (e.g. custody account fees, commissions and other fees). Model calculation (net): One investor would like to purchase units for EUR 1000. With a maximum initial sales charge of 5%, he or she must spend a one-off of EUR 50. Additionally, custody account costs may be incurred which affect the performance of the portfolio reduce the deposit costs. The custody account costs result from the price and service list of your Bank.
